

Your Goal - for Your Car

Ok, now you have your car, what type of restoration will you do? In other words,

What is Your Goal for this Car?

Do you want a car you can drive on a "daily" basis or just on the weekends? Do you want the final product to be concours show quality, modified class, a street-rod or hot-rod, or somewhere in between? Now is the time to make this choice.

Daily Driver?
Cosmetic Restoration?
Concours Quality?
Restore to Original?
Modified Car?
Street Rod?
Hot Rod?
Local Car Shows?
Power Tours?
Regional Shows
National Shows?

Whatever your choice it will have a major impact on the time and money required and the steps you will take to complete your project. Be as honest with yourself as you can in making this selection. The final cost of your restoration project will be drastically affected by the type of restoration you select and the make and model of your car

Remember, this is a fun project. Involve your entire family in this process. Share your thoughts with your family and ask for their opinions.

For complete in-depth direction for making these decisions, read the multi-page "Step 3" in Kaiser Bill's new Book "40 Steps to a Successful Restoration."
